We refuse to be invisible any longer.

“What we can't do alone, we can do together”

Seniors Tin Cup: an organization to bring attention to seniors poverty.

Low-income rates for seniors in BC (15.2%) are now the highest for any age group, a dramatic reversal from three decades ago when seniors had the lowest low-income rates of any age group.

28% of senior women are living in poverty according to
The Broadbent Institute, and it isn't due to bad planning.

A 70-year-old senior who is dependent on government pensions, would spend 78% of their income to rent an average one-bedroom apartment in BC if they did not own a home.
